About Art-Reach

Founded in 1986, Art-Reach creates, advocates for and expands accessible opportunities in the arts so the full spectrum of society is served. Art-Reach is solely devoted to increasing cultural participation among traditionally underserved audiences in both the disability and low-income sectors of the Philadelphia region. In 2017, Art-Reach empowered over 150,000 people to experience arts and culture who otherwise would not have the opportunity. Art-Reach is a 501 (c) (3) not for profit organization. About The Event

September 19, 2017, 6:00 – 8:30 p.m. at Prince Theater

Art-Reach is proud to announce the premiere of our Documentary I Am this September 19th at 6pm at the Prince Theater. This premiere will include a reception, film viewing, followed by a question and answer session with the dancers and filmmaker.

The film, I Am, follows the journey of 6 students from St Katherine's Day School for children with cognitive disabilities and 8 dancers from the Pennsylvania Ballet's Second Company to create an original ballet piece choreographed by Jessica Kilpatrick. For 10 weeks Filmmaker Glenn Holsten and his crew from Freshfly productions documented this journey, a product of Art-Reach's ENCORE program, where people with disabilities engage with the arts in a participatory way.

The original piece was performed live at Art-Reach's Cultural Access Awards in May 2017. This project broke the mold of cultural accessibility in Philadelphia and is a milestone for Art-Reach and the Pennsylvania Ballet's Community Engagement Program.
